CLUTTER REDUCTION

O13E

In order for our technicians to provide the best possible service we ask that before and during service you reduce the amount of clutter in your home. Clutter in your unit provides bed bugs a safe place to hide that we are unable to inspect and cannot treat with pesticide. If the clutter in your unit is not reduced or eliminated, additional services may be needed to eliminate the bed bug infestation. If you fail to complete the following requests it may be difficult or impossible to eliminate the problem.

Clutter is any item that restricts movement in any room or excessive amounts of personal items that hinders the treatment of the unit.

Some examples of clutter include but are not restricted to:

- excessive amounts of furniture,
- clothes strewn on the floor,
- random items placed around the perimeter of the room,
- overly packed closets, etc...

As long as a cluttered situation exists, we won't be able to complete a standard bed bug treatment. It will take more treatments and time to eliminate the bugs from your unit. Please eliminate clutter by any means possible. Items should be kept and organized, recycled, or thrown away. Dispose of items in an outdoor trash receptacle, recycle paper, not infested furniture, and consider storing items in a storage unit. Please be aware that if you store items in a storage unit, they need to be inspected before you take them out and when you bring them back to your home. Bed bugs can live on these stored items for many months. For additional help with off-site storage, please contact your management office.
